Peha-taft® classic powdered. Safe and simple.

Universal use:
Peha-taft classic, a slightly powdered surgical glove, is suitable for all surgical procedures and ensures a comfortable fatigue-free fit, due to its fully anatomical shape.

Easy to don:
On account of the slight powder coating Peha-taft classic can be put on easily with dry as well as moist hands, and is well suited when double gloving.

Good sensitivity:
In the area of the palm, the surface of the glove is slightly structured for more intensive tactile sensitivity.

High safety:
The surgical glove meets the Directive 93/42/EEC for medical products as well as the European Standard EN 455, Parts 1–3 and therefore offers perfect safety.

Good price-to-performance ratio:
The simple design of the Peha-taft classic powdered glove offers reliable quality and safety as well as good tactile sensitivity at a medium grip level.

Practical handling:
The paper peel-pack can be opened without tearing it for added safety in the operating theatre.
